

King Announces He'll Run Again For House Seat

Backs Anderson Permanently For Morrisville Post

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Rep. Karl C. King, beginning his third session of Congress, said today he will seek re-election this fall.

A Republican, King was elected to the Eighth Pennsylvania Congressional District, covering Bucks and Lehigh Counties, in 1951, filling the unexpired term of Abner Vaughn. He was re-elected in November, 1952.

The congressman is owner of King Farms, in Falls township, and a member of the House Agricultural Committee.

To Back Anderson

Rep. King at the same time, disclosed that he has recommended William E. Anderson, temporary postmaster of Morrisville, for permanent status. In an examination for the position in June, Anderson finished first.

Before his post office appointment, Anderson worked for the congressman as personnel manager for King Farms. He is a graduate of Rider College, Trenton, N. J., and former president of Morrisville Borough Council.

Rep. King said this week he has no plans for submitting House bills, but feels that Republican prospects in 1954 depend upon "how effectively Congress and the Eisenhower administration combine to make the people feel that the Republican program is working for the good of the country as a whole."

A pending congressional measure of special importance to Lower Bucks County, he said, is legislation to deepen the Delaware River channel. He said he hopes Congress will quickly appropriate the funds for the project, so that the dredging will start soon.

The congressman, before departing for Washington, praised housing developers of Lower Bucks County.

"We have in our immediate area the best argument against federal housing," he said, "in that we have seen private enterprise step up and furnish good housing as rapidly as needed and at a cost to the buyer which could not be met by government."

CAP Hunts Pilot Lost On Flight To Virginia Area

Civil Air Patrol Squadron 105, stationed at Buehl Field, Edgington, was alerted yesterday to search for a pilot feared lost somewhere between New York City and Richmond, Va.

According to a Civil Aeronautics Authority report, the last contact with the pilot, flying a single-engine Beechcraft from Springfield, Mass., to Virginia, was over New York City at 5:30 p. m. Tuesday.

The pilot was identified as a Mr. Zilkhan. His plane was described as green with yellow trim.

Pilots of the squadron who began their search yesterday at 3 p. m. include Chris Ritter of Cornwells Heights, Henry Hoiler of Feasterville, Fred Smith and Jack Bigg of Levittown, and Carroll Bechtel of Philadelphia, commanding officer of the squadron.

The search continued at dawn today operating from a headquarters at North Philadelphia Airport.

MANAGER IS SATISFIED; CUSTOMER 'FIXED UP'

OMAHA—(INS)—Ray Whisman, manager of an Omaha Safeway store, noticed a customer hurrying to a car in the store's parking lot and asked: "Did you get fixed up?"

"Yeah," replied the customer.

Whisman did not know how well "fixed up" the customer was until he returned to the store and learned the man had just brandished a .45 caliber automatic and cleaned out a cash register.

Police in Tullytown Told to Put Ban On All Favoritism

"Favoritism" and "double-standard justice" are out in Tullytown

Borough, newly-elected Burgess Fred Rentschler told the borough's police force last night.

Meeting with Police Chief John Walterick, the borough's three patrolmen and Justice of the Peace Byron W. Purdy, the Burgess demanded a "no favoritism" policy and declared his administration would be one of efficiency and fairness to all.

Rentschler warned the officers that any favoritism or preferential treatment to any individual or groups in Tullytown Borough was out.

Defies Coercion

Purdy, who emphasized "100 per cent" support of Rentschler, declared:

"I'm fully behind Burgess Rentschler to remove all traces of double standard justice that might have existed in the past."

"Furthermore I will not only defy any attempts at coercion in cases brought before me, but will widely publicize any threats or intimidation."

Face Suspension

The Burgess warned that any police officer found violating a "basic rule of conduct" would be suspended pending hearing before Borough Council.

Asked by reporters what he meant by a violation of a basic rule, the Burgess mentioned fixing tickets, rake-offs and accepting bribes.

While laying down the law to police officers, Rentschler promised to support them to the hilt in the performance of their duties.

Gives Full Power

"You need have no fear of intimidation or coercion from any person as long as I'm in office," he declared. "I'm giving Chief Walterick full power to run the police force the way it should be run."

He urged all officers to discuss with their chief any enforcement problems which may confront them.

"Let's forget the past," the Burgess said. "From now on I want the Tullytown police force to do a good job and let's start doing it tonight."

"From now on Chief Walterick and I will see to it that Tullytown Borough will become a law-abiding community, from traffic violations on up."

However, he said, "as additional reductions in expenditures are brought gradually and surely into sight, further reductions in taxes can and will be made."

Defensively, he said, the United States and its allies "will maintain a massive capability to strike back" at any aggressor, but he raised the hope that if Russia joins sincerely in turning the atom from destructive to constructive purposes the "age of peril" can be replaced by an "age of peace."

Domestically, the President urged a constitutional amendment to lower the voting age to 18, called for flexible instead of the present rigid farm supports, and also proposed revoking the citizenship of convicted Communist conspirators.

He revealed in his radio broadcast and televised address to the Senate and House, sitting in joint session, that the budget he will propose, although it will call for an extra billion dollars for continental defense against atomic attack, will cut spending about five billion dollars.

He spoke confidently of his administration's ability to cope with any economic recession. And he declared that a "truly constructive" reaction by Russia to his plan for a world atom pool could turn the age of peril into an "era of peace."

The President asked Congress to continue at their present levels excise taxes on liquor, tobacco, gasoline, automobiles and other items which are scheduled to be reduced April 1. He also requested that corporation income taxes, due to drop five percentage points on the same date, be held at the 52 per cent rate for another year.

But Mr. Eisenhower pledged: "As additional reductions in expenditures are brought gradually but surely into sight, further reductions in taxes can and will be made."

Representatives of other civic associations and the general public may attend the meeting, school directors said.

Richard Gumpert of Pleasantville, N. J., was hired to teach English and Latin at the high school.

Miss Marion R. Henderson and Gabriel Szabody, teachers in the high school, were authorized to attend a workshop at Doylestown designed to outline methods for setting up and operating a Future Teachers of America chapter at the school.

Two men are competing for vice-president, the result of a tie in the local election Dec. 16. They are Ed Delamin and Tom Shedy.

For the grievance committee, a member will be picked from each of three zones. Nominees are: Zone 1, Delford (Duffy) Reed, John Fitzgerald and George Schell; zone 2, Mike Uvekus; zone 3, Joe Dulge, Don DeBolt and Mike Pone.

Keating, a well known real estate broker and resident of Pennell, is president of Pennell Borough Council. For many years he was a justice of the peace, serving as president of the Bucks County and Pennsylvania association of magistrates at one time. He is also chief custodian of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives, a member of the Bucks County Real Estate Board and a director of the Eden Saving and Loan Association of Pennell.

Keating is a member of the executive committee of the Bucks County Republican Committee. A son of Thomas A. and Sarah (McGee) Keating, he was born in Philadelphia.

He has been active in public and political affairs since he became of age. For some time as a young man he was employed by the Reading Railway in the chief engineer's office at the Reading Terminal.

On Jan. 16, 1932, Keating married Helen Brown, of Philadelphia. They have a son, Joseph A. Keating, Jr., now a student at Norwich University, Northfield, Vt.

Keating will fill a vacancy left by the death of A. Harry Clayton, of Doylestown. Clayton, who was chairman of the Bucks County Republican Committee, was appointed workmen's compensation referee by former Gov. Arthur M. James in 1939 and served in that capacity until his death.

Neutral Estimate Is Suggested For Shopping Center

Fink Proposes An Attempt At 'Scientific' Figure

The disputed assessment of the Levittown Shopping Center properties should be settled by Tullytown Borough and Levitt and Sons, Inc., based on "a scientific and expert appraisal," an officer of the Shopping Center Businessmen's Association said today.

Charles M. Fink, secretary of the business group and officer manager of J. Halperin and Co., said an experienced appraiser should be hired for the job. Although the Halperin firm, as realtors, appraises properties, Fink said he would not want to appraise the Shopping Center.

Assessed at $515,970

Tullytown Burgess Frederick Rentacher, in an address to the Borough Council Monday, said the Shopping Center assessment is "too low, and forcing an economic hardship on the borough."

The Businessmen's Association has not discussed the assessment problem at its meetings, Fink said, as they do not pay the real estate tax but are tenants of the Levitt firm, owners of the center.

Asked about the traffic problem in the Shopping Center, in which Tullytown Police Chief John Wallerick said he is powerless to enforce auto laws because it is private property, Fink said this also is a matter to be settled by Levitt, as owner, and borough authorities.

To Expand Scope

At a meeting yesterday in the Levittown Bristol Trust Company Branch, the Businessmen's Association planned to expand its scope of activity with the addition of eight to ten new businesses in a new shopping unit to open in March.

The merchants discussed a public relations, advertising and sales promotion program for 1954. A representative of a nationally known advertising firm attended the meeting. Victor Fischer presided.

ties to ship all donations to Capt. Cole in Korea.

Picks Chairman

With the assurance that collected items would be shipped to Korea, Franks today appointed Arthur Pilla, 119 Pond street, Bristol, chairman of the drive.

"I plan to ask every organization, all scout troops, all firemen and policemen, and all churches and synagogues in Lower Bucks County for their cooperation in this drive," Pilla said, Pilla today will appoint chairmen in each community to handle local collections.

Already, two generous residents have offered to make the job a little easier for Pilla to organize. Samuel J. Farruggio, Bristol trucker, has offered the use of his trucks to transport donations. And Tom Rosakis, who owns Tommy's, a luncheonette in Harriman, has offered one of the rooms above his store as a central storing depot for collections, until they are packed and taken to the Arsenal. The drive is expected to get under way early next week.

Need Clothes

Franks stressed that the people in Korea and Capt. Cole are not requesting money; it is clothing and food that they need.

"We're aware of the fact that other clothing and food drives have been held in the past few months by many clubs and churches," Franks said, "but inasmuch as this is such a needy cause and is on a Lower Bucks county, rather than just individual community, scale, we know it will be a success."

And there is another reason too. Capt. Cole's request was a personal one to the people of the area. He felt that his neighbors would want to help the unfortunate people just as much as he does.

The New England Courier, was founded August 7, 1721, by James Franklin, brother of the more famous Benjamin.

Delhaas High Takes Its Vocational Count

A survey to determine the extent of pupil interest in vocational education in Delhaas High School is being conducted this week. Robert H. Fraser, director of secondary education at the school, said last night.

The survey, along with others in Lower Bucks County schools, will help to determine what courses may be offered in a proposed technical school for Lower Bucks, Fraser said.

Howard C. Taylor, president of the Delhaas Joint School Board and chairman of a group studying possibilities of a technical school for Lower Bucks, said his group may meet next week to discuss the proposal further.

Taylor said a meeting date would be set when it has been learned that all school districts interested in the proposal have completed surveys.

Participating schools are Delhaas, Pennsbury, Bensalem Township, Morrisville and Centennial.

South Korea Backs Down On Threats To Hit Truce Zone

SEOUL — (INS) — South Korea, bowing to a stern warning from the United Nations Command, backed down tonight from a threat to invade the truce zone and "protect" anti-Red war prisoners from Indian "head counts."

But President Syngman Rhee's government reiterated that its troops would act to "rescue" some 2,000 unrepatriated POWs after midnight Jan. 22 if the captives are not freed by that armistice-set deadline.

The Republic of Korea position was stated by Defense Minister Admiral Sohn Won Il after day-long emergency consultations on a warning issued Wednesday by Eighth Army Commander Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, head of all UN ground forces in Korea.

Warning To ROKs

Taylor, responding to a statement made Tuesday by ROK Foreign Minister Y. T. Pyun, had announced that UN troops would halt any "acts of disturbance and intrusion" by ROK forces in the neutral zone.

Admiral Sohn, emerging from special sessions with Rhee and ROK legislative leaders, announced South Korea would not use force to prevent further Indian "roster checks" as Pyun had threatened.

Sohn said Pyun had not consulted the Defense Ministry before issuing his threat Tuesday.

Don't Want Clash

Commenting on Gen. Taylor's warning that any invasion of the neutral zone would be stopped by UN troops, the ROK defense minister declared:

"By all means, we do not want to clash with UN forces in Korea."

Reports had circulated in Seoul and Tokyo that Taylor's blunt warning would force the resignation of Pyun from Rhee's cabinet.

GOP Hears Talk On School Puzzle By Superintendent

Robert Shafer, superintendent of Bensalem township schools last night outlined the problems of the school and the administration in a speech before the Bensalem Republican Club at Oremaki Hall, Andalusia.

He spoke to the group about the size of the school district in terms of dollar value, its 2000 pupils, 100 plus employees and 10,000 taxpayers.

Shafer mentioned the training and developing of the faculty and of the student body as to primary problems. Shafer said he felt that this is one phase where the school has fallen down on the job, due to the lack of vocational training for students.

Going to the more personal aspects of his problems as administrator, he mentioned the divided allegiance of his job. He said he owes loyalty to the school board, the faculty, the students and to the citizens of the school district.

Shafer mentioned immediate problems of expediting the current building program, his part in the monthly school board meetings and the attempt to find the time and energy to devote to civic projects.

As a final point he mentioned the problem of finding the time for recreation, study and to spend with his family.

Shafer's talk was followed by a question and answer period from the floor.

MEYNER ASKS HELP OF GOP LEGISLATORS

TRENTON, N. J. — (INS) — Gov. Ellet Robert B. Meyner has appealed to members of the New Jersey legislature for close cooperation during the 1954 session, which starts next Tuesday.

Speaking at session for the benefit of new members, Meyner praised the orderly transition of government from Republican to Democratic rule after 10 years and also the help of Gov. Driscoll and his willingness to cooperate in such a transition.

Meyner is a Democrat, while the legislature is controlled by Republicans.

"The same people who elected you, elected me," declared Meyner. "Let us consider it a sacred trust and not fail them."

Arrange Plants To Aid Privacy, Women Are Told

How to have privacy in the Levittown home, without building fences, was the topic of a talk by Jeffrey Radley, landscape architect with Pitkonka Farms, Bristol.

Radley, who addressed the Red Cedar Hill Women's club of Levittown last night, explained the way in which plant arrangement can provide both privacy and beauty. The landscape artist stated that the prohibition by Levitt and Sons, Inc., of building fences, is to the community's best interest.

"A community that is built with a certain plan in mind becomes unattractive when fences of all sizes and shapes are erected," he said.

Pretty for Both Sides

The planting of flowers can be attractive to both the land they are planted on, and to the adjoining neighbor.

"They can be pretty to both sides, and at the same time act as barriers for dogs and children," Radley said.

"Anything you plant will be attractive, and anything you plant, with the proper care, can grow," he told the group.

Radley discussed borders along the Levittown driveways and around the house, and said, in his opinion the builders have given the residents a good foundation to work with. He said that shrubbery and trees planted by Levitt and Sons give an overall attractive picture.

Shows Own Plans

Radley, who lives at 45 Pensive lane, showed plans for landscaping for both his home and for those of other Levittowners. He cautioned the women to talk to a landscape counselor or the person from whom they buy plants, before doing any planting.

At the business meeting of the group, following the talk, the women decided to meet the first and third Thursday of each month. They will continue to hold their meetings at the William Penn Center.

Two new committees have been formed by the club, one to draw up a constitution, the other to submit a permanent name for the organization. A name will be decided at the group's next meeting, Jan. 21.

Constitution committee chairman is Mrs. Raymond Curry, vice-president; other members include Mrs. Betty Knorr, Mrs. Gloria O'Meara, Mrs. William Mobley, Mrs. James Sweeney, Mrs. Lloyd Eslinger, Mrs. John Ehas and Mrs. Robert Morgan.

The naming committee chairman is Mrs. Barbara Force, Mrs. Theresa Hook, Mrs. Joan Monsalvone, Mrs. Norma Santangelo.

Additions to other committees include: Sunshine committee, Mrs. Joan Moore and Mrs. Angelo; baby-sitting, Mrs. Dolores Hoag and Mrs. Betty Saenz, refreshment, Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Lella Foltz.

After a two-minute hearing it was officially announced that a Scottish court had withdrawn, at Patino's request, the temporary injunction he obtained Tuesday against the marriage.

Survey Uncovers Decline In State's Industrial Output

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. — (INS) — Pennsylvania's industrial activity during the first 11 months of 1953 was reported today to have topped the level for the corresponding months in 1952 by six per cent.

However, activity last November was below that for the like month in 1952 and was down from the October index, according to the Business Survey Bureau at Pennsylvania State University.

The bureau predicted the softening of activity apparent in November would carry into December.

November Index Down

The industrial index for November was down three per cent from October and was off six per cent from the level reported for November, 1952.

The November index was 219 while for the corresponding month in 1952 it was 232. The bureau uses the years 1935-39 to establish a base of 100. The bureau reported: "Activity in Pennsylvania began to weaken in July, when the index stood at 238."

19-Point Drop

"The four-month decline to November amounted to 19 points or eight per cent, and a further decline for December is expected."

"Activity for the first 11 months of 1953, however, was up six per cent from the same months of 1952."

"During November, average hourly and weekly earnings in manufacturing reached new highs for the month of November. Factory payrolls were level with 1952, with both years high for this series."

"Eleven of the 20 leading manufacturing industries and five of the leading manufacturing areas reported better payrolls than a year ago."

"Anthracite coal production was lower than at any time in the past quarter century, while bituminous coal output was the smallest since 1932."

Classes will be held every Thursday in the firehouse for 14 successive weeks, according to Nicholas Eberle, president of Tullytown Borough Council. They will cover all phases of police and fire activities in relation to emergencies and civil defense.

POLICEMAN SUSPENDED AS FIVE-CENT BANDIT

PHILADELPHIA — (INS) — A rookie Philadelphia policeman was under suspension today on a charge that he robbed a restaurant of five cents at gunpoint.

Rutherford Hill, 21, reportedly thrust a pistol at waitress Helen Rankins, 25, and demanded a nickel after inquiring if she ever suffered from heart trouble.

The waitress told detectives Rutherford started to insert the coin in a pinball machine and then gave it back saying, "I'm only fooling, if I wanted to hold this place up, I'd come on a weekend."

Detectives said the officer, on the force only four months, was on sick leave at the time of the incident.

BOARD TO MEET

Tullytown School Board will meet at 8 p. m. tonight at the office of Supervisor John Linscott in Tullytown.

PROPOSE BARTER PLAN TO USE CROP SURPLUS

WASHINGTON (INS) — Two congressmen have proposed to Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson that America use a barter program to regain a portion of its lost agricultural export market.

The proposal was made late Wednesday by Rep. H. Carl Anderson (R., Minn.), chairman of the House Agricultural Appropriations Subcommittee, and Rep. Walt Horan (R., Wash.), a member of the subcommittee.

The '54 BUICK's got it—

The BIG CHANGE you've been hoping for!

Exemplar of the 1954 Buick's years-from-now styling is this stunning new Super Riviera

THE instant you see these 1954 Buicks, you'll know that something sensational has happened in automobile styling.

Here is vastly more than the usual model changeover. Here is vastly more than could be done just by warming over what Buick had before. Here is something accomplished by going far beyond artful face-lifting.

Here is that rarity of rarities—a completely new line of automobiles.

But Buick didn't stop with the bolder, fresher, swifter-lined beauty you see in raised and lengthened fender sweep—in the huge and back-swept expanse of windshield—in the lowered roofline—in the host more glamor features of exterior modernity.

They upped all horsepower to the highest in Buick history.

They engineered a new V8 for the SPECIAL—and in the process came up with new Power-Head Pistons that boost gasoline mileage in every engine.

When better automobiles are built Buick will build them

Another Session In Offing In GOP Candidate Search

HARRISBURG —(INS)—Harmony-hunting Republican leaders anticipate another session later in the week to expand their number in their search for a 1954 gubernatorial candidate acceptable to all factions.

Gov. John S. Fine will be spokesman for the group.

The meeting, which U. S. Senator James H. Duff is not expected to attend, is slated to be held either at Harrisburg or Hershey, scene of the 1950 pow-wows which produced the Duff-Fine ticket.

Duff's expected absence is based on his failure to meet Monday at Washington with several Republican leaders conferring with Fine. At the time, he said he was too busy with duties attendant to the opening of Congress today.

Headed By Peters

The Washington conferees were headed by Montgomery County GOP Boss Fred C. Peters, who was one of the mainstays in Duff's battle against what the senator considers the old guard of Republicanism in Pennsylvania. The question perplexing the harmony group is whether Duff plans to seek the gubernatorial nomination. He has given no hint.

Gov. Fine has indicated the "area of conference" is to be expanded and leaders from Philadelphia and Pittsburgh are expected to be called into consultation on the best way to choose a harmony candidate for governor.

Diehm On List

The original group which began its harmony drive several weeks ago also includes State Senator G. Graybill Diehm from Lancaster, John J. McClure from Delaware county and National Committeeman G. Mason Owlett, president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association.

All of the conferees, with the exception of Owlett, were in the Duff-Fine camp in 1950.

Missing so far from the group are Philadelphia ex-Sheriff Austin Meehan and Northampton County GOP Chairman Kenneth F. Kressler. Meehan has protested being left out of the meetings.

VFW Pledges Aid For Jobs in State

HARRISBURG, (INS) — State Commander Elmer D. Christine today pledged support of the 200,000-member Veterans of Foreign Wars in finding new industry for the anthracite area.

"It is time," said Christine, "for the VFW, labor, banking, industry, commerce, government and even the clergy to unite in preventing an enormous industrial and economic erosion."

He said VFW plans to assist in the search for industry will be formulated in meetings Jan. 16 at Kingston and the following day at Jessup.

Minister Reviews Peale Book For Women's Group

"The Power of Positive Thinking," by Norman Vincent Peale, was reviewed in the light of a New Year's message, by the Rev. Clifford G. Pollock, of the First Presbyterian Church of Morrisville.

Mr. Pollock addressed the regular meeting of the Morrisville Women's club in the church's Fellowship Hall. About 80 members attended.

At the business meeting of the club, which followed the talk, the group voted to participate in the Morrisville 150th anniversary celebration. Plans were also made for members to attend the Bucks County Winter Conference of the Federation of Women's clubs, to be held in Doylestown, Jan. 19. Mrs. Clarence Snyder presided at the business meeting.

Mrs. Coleman P. Morgan was chairman of the tea committee for the afternoon.

Flexible Supports Foreseen In New Farm Proposals

WASHINGTON —(INS)—American Farm Bureau Federation officials predicted that the administration will recommend a flexible farm price support program to Congress next Monday.

The National Grange, however, announced, despite reported White House opposition, that it will demand a two-price plan under which high price supports would be placed on domestic commodities and exported items would be sold at the world price.

May Change Parity

Informed sources said the administration may also propose a new parity formula based on the 1943-53, rather than the present 1910-14 period. If adopted, price supports would drop slightly below present levels.

A spokesman said the flexible system would embrace many of the farm bureau's recommendations on price props.

The bureau has suggested that Congress allow the current law to expire. It pegs price supports on basic crops at 90 per cent of parity.

1948 Formula

Then, the flexible formula enacted in 1948 would become effective. It sets price pegs at 75 to 90 per cent of parity, and the secretary of agriculture would determine the support level on each crop.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson has repeatedly supported a flexible program since he took office a year ago.

Meanwhile, there was considerable talk in official circles of the possibility that the administration may try to put existing farm surpluses into a strategic stockpile or other reserves.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

God hath made me to laugh.—Ge. 21:6.
Sarah was joyful over an amazing proof that God keeps his promises. God is so uniform in his actions that we imagine law rules the universe when in truth it is infinite intelligence and love that rules. God has reasons beyond our understanding.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By Fulton Lewis, Jr.
(Copyright, 1954,
King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Although he can't reveal his personal feelings on the matter, President Eisenhower is perplexed that so few words have been written applauding the conspicuously successful tour of nineteen Asian countries by Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

All reports to the White House from our far eastern embassies confirm that Mr. Nixon is an excellent emissary and a praiseworthy salesman. Yet there has been, as the president has noted, this curious dearth of news regarding the tour and its gratifying success.

Even the few less-than-enthusiastic dispatches from "diplomats" grown so cynical that their aloofness destroys their value as grudging admissions that the Vice President and Mrs. Nixon made a profound impression on officials in each of the countries visited, that they were loved by the people who turned out to cheer this thoroughly American couple.

Mr. Eisenhower has read these professional dispatches, has been briefed on the press reaction in the countries visited, and finds that embassies here in Washington have received similar reports from their own capitals. Scratching his head characteristically, he asks "why doesn't Dick get the credit he deserves for doing a really bang-up job?"

The answer, Mr. President, may be a very curious attempt to avert recognition of these facts by the simple expedient of ignoring them. It must be apparent by now that those advocates who chronicle every word of the defeated presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson as he moves around the country seeking to remain in the shifting political spotlight, are not inclined to view favorably the latest achievement of a young and sincere "their apparent."

Mr. Stevenson's tour was of little real value to the United States, and it is not intended as a rebuke to suggest that the defeated presidential candidate of 1952 had few specific recommendations to make to the President or the State Department upon his return. The White House could ill afford to offend Mr. Stevenson by refusing to invite him nor is Mr. Eisenhower the type of person who indulges in petty spites. Thus, political capital was made by having the defeated democratic candidate appear at the White House to "report" to and "advise" the President.

The observations and the recommendations of the Vice President, however, are of infinitely more value to the administration charged with the responsibility of conducting the affairs of this Republic.

The Vice President has said that

Dusting Off The News

By CHARLES O. MOLZ

Somewhat this hubbub over the position the Bucks County String Band took in the Mummery Parade has reminded us that we never did learn whether they ever got the glockenspiel player they were looking for last fall. And if so, why?

One thing the seers will be safe in predicting is that 1954 will be a good year for arguments in Lower Bucks County—particularly about schools.

Lazy Louie says the bigtime writers are saying again that this is "the year of decision," but he doubts his wife will be able to make up his mind any better than usual.

This hasn't been a very good year for snow men, but it's just as well for the kids around Bristol, as how would you make a snow man look like anything, without coal for the eyes—and supplies have been kept mighty low.

It is going to take about 150 more teachers for the schools in Bucks County next fall. We know a couple of neighboring youngsters who are just growing up and if we ease this pair right it would be a good thing to add several more teachers just to keep them in line.

The John Fitch PTA was finally organized and the only person with a black eye is Zee Zee Gaber.

There is sure to be some confusion between John Gallagher, who is president of the Bristol Borough Council, and John J. Gallagher, who is justice of the peace. These two men are Democrats, however, and God never made two Democrats exactly alike.

Letters To The Editor

Hits Borough Roads

TO THE EDITOR:

I've lived in Bristol borough a good many years and I have never seen the streets in worse condition than they are now. Beaver street, from Pond to the highway is no better than a country dirt road.

I have the kind of job where I have to drive my car through the borough a great deal every day. I don't know if it will stand the wear and tear many more months. I hope our new borough council will include action on streets in their plans for 1954. I don't think they could do anything else that would make them more popular with borough residents.

Thanks, Courier!

TO THE EDITOR:

In behalf of the American Red Cross of the Lower Bucks County Branch, I wish to thank you and your staff with Miss Gabler in mind especially, for your untiring efforts in helping us find shelter, furniture, etc., for the Harrington family who lost all their possessions in a fire which destroyed their home on December 12.

The response to your appeal in the COURIER was most gratifying and made the job for volunteers in Red Cross Disaster Service considerably easier.

William Dunn,
Chairman of Disaster Service,
Lower Bucks Branch, A. R. C.

Texas Put Mark On Nation In '53

DALLAS, Tex., (INS) — The easy going but colorful life that is typical of Texas and the southwest made its mark on other parts of the United States during 1953.

Fashions, home furnishings designed and created in the Lone Star State were sent far and wide. Typical of women's fashions from the southwest were the "fiesta style" clothes a mixup of the Mexican and Indian influence which added up to flowing skirts, pretty ruffles and bright colors.

A western slacks suit, more aptly described as a modified cowboy suit for women, made a successful 1953 debut.

Texas is the home of the country's largest manufacturer of men's slacks.

To the nation's furniture department, Texas sent more of its famed ranch-oak furniture, manufactured in Fort Worth.

HUNTING SALTS

NEW YORK, (INS) — If you're stalking game this season, don't forget your smelling salts. This is the advice of John Schafer, ruddy-faced boss of the gun room at Aber-

Today's Quiet Moment

By The Rev. E. S. Dennis, Pastor
Bethel A. M. E. Church

In St. Matthew 9:20 we read of a woman that was healed by touching the hem of the garment of Jesus Christ, in the days when Jesus walked the earth.

Are we poorer because Christ has gone to the Father? No. The living God still walks in our midst in love and power. The hem of Christ's garment can still be touched.

The hem of Christ's garment in Nature is the visible garment of God wrought by God's fingers in times of storm and calm, of rising and setting suns, of silent stars and breathing winds, of sea and shore, of meadow and mystic wood, is the garment of the Living God.

David tells us in Psalm 36, when he was sick at heart with men's pride and deceit and ungodliness, he went out to the world of the open heavens and everlasting hills and the song of relief came to his lips, "Thy mercy, O God is in the heavens and thy faithfulness reacheth unto the clouds. Thy righteousness is like the great mountains. Thy judgments are a great deep."

When your strength is gone and nerves unstrung. You have gone to some still wood or by a babbling brook and found that the virtue of Christ has passed unto you, while wearied and broken in spirit, you touched the hem of His garment in prayer.

There are those who have touched the hem of Christ's garment through some great painting. In art galleries, men have gazed upon Christ portrayed on canvas, the great picture was felt, Silence sealed their lips and serious awe fell upon their spirit, then and there surrendering all to Jesus, as they touched the hem of His garment.

The hem of Christ's garment in the word. We have great healing through the inspired word of God. The Bible is more than a book. A personality in dwells in its' pages. It is a living reality. When the vilest sinner brushes against the hem of His garment, he is purified.

When we have lost hope and heart and have tried many physicians and are no better we have but to apply to our soul some great word out of his Book, to find ourselves healed. "Have you touched the hem of His garment?"

Boy Scout Takes Role on Calendar

DALLAS, Tex., — (INS) — The day session in Dallas: United States is in a pious, arty mood. The picture calendar men have proof of it.

They know because the public is demanding Boy Scouts and fine arts reproductions on its calendars. But there'll come a day, the calendar men say, when world tensions will ease and the demand will once again be for scantily-clad, curvaceous cuties atop the monthly log.

Pearson W. Atkinson, vice-president of Brown & Bigelow Co., one of the country's leading calendar manufacturing firms, told picture-calendar salesmen during a two-day session in Dallas: "Serious subjects like Scouts and fine arts are much more popular today than 'hot-cha' women." And he added:

"This is a definite national attitude—make no mistake about it." It's Atkinson's theory that one can trace the temper of the people through their changing desires in calendar art.

During the 1920's calendars couldn't have girls "bad enough," he said, but now it has gotten to the point where the calendar makers "have an agreement with the national academy of fine arts in New York to reprint their old masters."

Tribute to Comrades in Arms

MEMBERS OF GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC (Langhorne Post), back about 1908, gathered in Beechwood Cemetery, Hulmeville, to honor the memory of those who had fought for the country and had passed on. Standing beside the flag to the left of the picture is Anthony Burton, Tullytown; next to him is Charles MacCorkle, Hulmeville, and fourth veteran to right of Mr. MacCorkle is Mr. Hibbs, Langhorne. Shown third from left, front row, William McCafferty, Midway; and fifth, Mr. Reed Langhorne. Standing to the right of Mr. MacCorkle are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shields (parents of Mrs. Robert Bruden, Cedar street); while the man on the extreme right (in derby) is identified as James P. Hellings, Middletown township, who for many years served as tipstaff in Bucks county courts. The woman in white at the left of the picture is Mrs. May Laros Darrah, who, with her husband, Edwin Darrah, resides on Bellevue avenue, Hulmeville.

They will attend the Billy Graham evangelistic convention program in the capital city.

FIGHT KOREAN TYPHUS

SEOUL (INS) — If it isn't one war in South Korea it is another. The South Korean Ministry of Public Health has mobilized sanitation teams throughout the country as part of a "kill rats and fleas" campaign designed to prevent an outbreak of typhus.

Plans for the Bristol Lions Club's part in the Lions International Annual Charity Show, to be held in Convention Hall, Philadelphia, on March 25, 26, and 27, are being formulated.

Robert Hellyer, international counselor and former district governor of the Lions International, met with 50 members of the local group Tuesday night at Pennsbury Inn to discuss the fund-raising program.

During the past year, the local chapter has been active in charitable affairs in the area, Walter Rosser, president, said. It is the policy of the organization not to make public the names of individuals or groups receiving its assistance.

Pacing The Labor Beat

With The Labor Editor

News of local unions and their members will be welcomed by the COURIER. Address all communications to the Labor Editor, The BRISTOL COURIER, Bristol, Penna.

Congress, opening its session today, will not amend the much-discussed Taft-Hartley act, according to those close to the capital labor scene. Instead, the tipsters say, changes in national labor policy will be effected in the operation of the National Labor Relations Board.

Chairman Samuel K. McConnell of the House education and labor committee, a Pennsylvania Republican, had an advance look at the labor recommendations in President Eisenhower's speech today. He said Mr. Eisenhower would give the Congressional committees considerable freedom of action.

The five-year-old shooting of CIO United Auto Workers Chief Walter P. Reuther has been solved, according to Michigan authorities. Wayne County Prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien announced the arrest of two men in the Detroit shooting, identified a third accomplice as a convict in Terre Haute, Ind., federal prison and said five suspects are still at large.

Arrested were Carl Honda, 35 and Clarence Jacobs, 53, Jacobs, a resident of Ontario, Canada, was seized by Canadian authorities and is being held for extradition.

Reuther is now president of the CIO. His shooting, in which a hand and arm were partially crippled, is believed to be linked with Reuther's successful effort to remove bookmakers and numbers runners from unionized plants.

New York Mayor Robert Wagner, was tensely preparing for a widespread port strike yesterday as the head of the old, independent, International Longshoremen's Association said UMW Chief John L. Lewis may aid him to the tune of $5,000,000.

Mrs. Lewis promised me all the support we needed," said Capt. William V. Bradley, president of the old IILA. "He thinks we are getting a raw deal."

The new IILA, affiliated with the AFL, contesting a recent election between the two unions, accused Bradley of using Lewis as "a bull-fighter's cape."

"If Bradley does call a strike," an AFL-IILA spokesman said, "it will only be for the purpose of forcing mob rule on the longshoremen in defiance of existing labor law."

Six AFL International Ladies Garment Workers Union affiliates are being sued by a North Philadelphia dress manufacturer for violation of the Taft-Hartley law. Plaintiff is L. Nachman and Son, Inc., of 10th and Berks streets, whose trimming division employees have been on strike since Oct. 28.

The union affiliates are being sued for breach of a contract with a no-strike provision, which expired Dec. 31. The provision banned strikes or walk-outs during pending the determination of grievances, the company maintains.

Attorney Sigmund Steinberg said only one of the defendants, Local 88, Embroiderers, Pleaters, Tuckers, Stitchers, Button, Suspenders and Garter Workers, had a contract with the firm's trimming division, but that the other groups, "induced Local 88 to violate the provisions of the agreement."

A Quick Look: Leaders of the CIO United Steelworkers of America say their recent settlement with the Continental Can Co. may set the pattern for labor peace with the American Can Company. Both companies were struck Dec. 1. . . . The American Federation of Musicians has agreed to a five-year contract with recording manufacturers, but both sides are mum on the details. . . . The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers says it won't accept a five-cent-hourly wage hike, as did the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen recently. They want more.

Tullytown School Directors hope to have completed arrangements for acquisition of a kindergarten site by Jan. 16. School Director Benjamin Kline reported last night.

Garden Notes

By Walter W. Pittsonka, Jr.

Are you interested in starting plants from seed this year? If the answer is yes — first read this.

Home raised seedlings need special media in which to grow. They require extra watering and handling because young seedlings are extremely delicate. When starting these seeds, great care should be used in the selection of the proper media or growing soil. The formula generally accepted is — one part garden loam, one part horticultural peat, and one part washed white sand. The resulting conglomeration is more mellow than most soil found in nature and in your garden. This soil mixture is placed into a "germinating box" or flat. Fill the flat only $\frac{3}{4}$ and pat this firmly with a flat object. Upon this, scatter the seeds of the desired plant. Sow them the thickness you think would produce enough plants. Over these seeds, apply a coating of pure white sand of the thickness enough to cover the seed. Naturally, more sand is required for larger seed. This covering of sand aids in drainage of the water away from the seed. Besides drainage, white sand slows the spread of certain diseases, such as the common "damping off" which is a rotting of the plant stem at ground level. Finally, a covering of finely shredded sphagnum moss or peat moss is applied. This thin coating acts as a barrier against drying out of the surface crust of soil. Besides acting as a barrier against drying, it keeps the seed and soil at a more uniform temperature. These are, of course, important factors to control.

When all the above steps have been followed, sprinkle the entire flat lightly. Place the watered flat in a uniform temperature. The average optimum temperature is 75 degrees for germination.

Watering on following days should be determined by you and not the calendar. Water only when it is dry for a depth of about $\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{3}{4}$ inch. In other words, don't water just because the surface is drying — check the condition of the germinating seed daily. When watering, do it in the morning, not at night!

After the seedlings are a few weeks old, apply a fertilizer. This should be a fertilizer of a liquid nature. Liquid fertilizer is easily handled and applied without the dirty mess of handling of powdered or solid material. Make applications periodically, dependent upon the type of plant. Acid residue forming fertilizer is primarily for acid loving plants and neutral or alkaline fertilizer for sweet desiring plants.

In closing, let me remind you all to listen to Amos Kirby's "Green Thumb Club" on Saturday. He has plenty of good information he is passing out to you and you.

Happy Gardening!

State To Educate Employees For Its Liquor Stores

HARRISBURG — A comprehensive state-store educational training program, which has been developed over a period of several months, will be instituted by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board among its more than 3300 employees in 606 State stores early in January.

The 606th store is being opened in Fairless Hills, Bucks County. The development of the program has been the work of a committee of supervisory and management personnel representing all sections of the State with many suggestions received from the entire field of operations. With the objective of constantly improving service to the public, the training program is designed to reach all store employees, new and old, including the management personnel.

Bleached Finish Disappears In New Furniture Decor

CHICAGO — (INS) — The 1954 look in furniture is composed of four parts — its got new colors, a lower scale, a darker finish and wheels.

The New Year is only a few days old, but judging from the acres of new furniture on display at the world's biggest furniture market, 1953 decor will need a considerable overhaul to acquire that '54 air.

The most obvious change in furniture shown at the January market in Chicago is color, and even this change is two-fold.

In modern furniture, the new colors are bright orange, brilliant blue-green, vivid yellow and white and black.

In traditional furniture, and the high-style contemporary items by name designers, these same colors are translated into mellow tangerine, soft turquoise and dull olive green, opulent gold and pale yellow, and white and black.

The higher-priced lines throw in a little purple, too, for a rich accent.

In both modern and traditional, and in all price ranges, that overwhelming red-on-red plaid idea of 1953 is gone. The colors used in upholstery and panels are clear, solid tints. Even the more muted sofa and chair covers don't glitter with metallic thread. Everything accents pure color instead of pattern.

Wood has continued the comeback it started in 1953, and the emphasis in most fine furniture is on the wood itself. There's a lot of expensive wood used just to show off the grains and burrs, and many designers have two woods doing the job of one for contrast.

The most noticeable change in wood is the trend toward a darker finish. The very bleached finish is gone. Woods are being stained in the reddish or dark brown tints.

Bleached finishes were still on display, but almost exclusively in lower-priced furniture. The stylish trend is toward dark finishes, in the dull brown class.

In spite of the many design idea changes, the furniture industry has continued the "comfort-above-all" theory that homemakers love.

Wipe-clean plastics, non-polish metals and washable or easily-cleanable fabrics are used everywhere possible.

The Toll of the Turnpike

Mrs. Lewis Swartz, owner of the LaTrappe Hotel, on Old Lincoln Highway and Street road, Bensalem township, has lived in the 200-year-old building for 37 years.

"It is a beautiful home," Mrs. Swartz said. "And business has always been good."

But now, after 37 years, the widow has been forced to move. The turnpike is coming through there, and the historical hotel is going to be torn down by the state.

"I'm building a home right across the street just for me, my dog, and my parrot," Mrs. Swartz told us. "I'll probably move in sometime next week."

How does she feel about giving up her home and her business? Well, Mrs. Swartz appears to be a pretty spunky lady.

"It's terrible, just terrible after all these years and all my memories to see the hotel torn down," she said. "But," she added rather sadly, "I can't stand in the way of progress . . ."

Chewing the Fat

We don't know how "weighty" the subject was in Lower Bucks County, but in Pittsburgh, the population tips the scales about 300,000 pounds more than it did before the holidays.

It seems each Pittsburgher has added an average of a pound because of overeating during the recent holidays.

LOWER BUCKS JAYCEES NAME STATE DELEGATES

Three members, Clifford Skubus, Pennel; Anthony Mandio, Bristol; and Edward Johnson, Newtown, have been selected to represent the Lower Bucks County Junior Chamber of Commerce at its state convention Feb. 6 and 7 at Pocono Manor.

Delegates will also be sent to the 1954 national Jaycee convention to be held in Colorado Springs, Colo., the first two weeks in June. David Clarke, Morrisville, president, said erby, co-owner of Greenwood Dairies, Pennel, is pictured using an electrically-run bulk milk system to store milk. One of the first to use it, Sauerbrey employs the new method to keep milk fresh until a tank truck arrives to convey it from the farm to the dairy.

Milk awaiting transfer is kept in a large, refrigerated tank. The lifting and scouring of many 40-quart milk cans is eliminated, and the length of time the milk is exposed to air is reduced.

Anybody Want a Green and Purple Necktie That Lights Up?

The Bucks County Kiwanis club of Lincoln Highway has managed to turn Christmas gifts its members receive and cannot use, into money for its activities.

The secret to the Kiwanis' success is what might be termed a White Elephant Post-Christmas Auction sale. Members are asked to bring in gifts they cannot use and these gifts are auctioned off to the other members. Take for instance, the man who does not drink who received two bottles of liquor for Christmas. These were auctioned for the club. So the gifts sold are valuable, and of some use to others.

And to show that the auction-system works: the club raised $70 by it.

Still Tough Sledding

We don't have anything against the elements, and don't want to appear to be picking on them or the like, but this is just to note that it almost snowed yesterday in Lower Bucks county! Yes, snow was predicted for the area, and had us pretty well fooled. But it warmed up — and gone with the wind was the snow.

Here 'n' There

A husband and wife team are among the newly-elected officers of the John Fitch PTA. Mrs. Gerald Crowningshield was named vice-president, and her husband, treasurer. They live at 117 Farmbrook lane, Levittown . . . Morrisville Women's club will play host to the first two weeks in June, David Clarke, Morrisville, president, said

LAB RESTORED

ITHACA, N.Y. (INS) — A massive windowless laboratory building will go into service soon as new headquarters for Cornell University's studies of high-voltage phenomena. The laboratory, replacing one destroyed by a million dollar fire in February, 1948, is expected to be in full operation in about a year.

DIESEL CARS

LONDON, (INS) — The diesel-engined private car is expected to make its debut on the British market shortly. Leading motor manufacturers are experimenting with prototypes fitted with diesel power units and several British firms are already producing light diesel engines especially for automobiles.

Delhaas Dumps Morrisville, 54-48; Boosts Streak to 4

Disarming Arms

Delhaas High's Bob Morris (11) had little chance to hit with this hook shot during his team's afternoon game with Morrisville yesterday. Don Habel had the situation pretty well covered here, but Delhaas won, 54-48, as Morris bagged 15 points.

By JOE MUCH
Courier Sports Editor

A stretch-running Delhaas High quintet staged a familiar last quarter flurry yesterday afternoon to stomp Morrisville High, 54-48, in a highly entertaining Lower Bucks County League opener for both teams at borrowed Rohm and Haas gym, Bristol.

The matinee win was the fourth straight for the Township Tigers, who have yet to lose. This, of course, was the choicest victory, for it kept them at par with Bristol and Pennsburg, other first game LBCCL winners.

Cadillac Pin Team Gains in Sizzling Bristol Major Race

Surgling Cadillac Bar and Grille sliced Parkway Inn's lead to a single game in the Bristol Major Bowling league this week with a 3-0 sweep over St. Ann's A.C.

While the Cadillacs were rolling, Parkway's best efforts were good enough only for a 2-1 decision over Roebuck Chioproactor.

Other whippers were registered by Sanitary Disposal and the Auto Boys as both teams closed in on the leaders.

The week's best single game was notched by Kramers of Auto Boys, who had a 216, Feyley of Roebuck posted a 596 triple, including games of 211 and 214, for the individual high series.

Bing Miller Listed As Rotary Speaker

A former Philadelphia Athletics outfield star and coach will be the guest speaker at a meeting of the Morrisville Rotary Club on Thursday.

Bing Miller will address the club at the Pennsburg Inn, Falls Twp. He has spent 26 years in organized baseball and is now sales representative of the Associated Middle States Freight Lines of Philadelphia.

The meeting will be conducted by A. James Eby, president.

The Pioneers have been topped only by Franklin A. C. and Kaiser Metal, the loop's 1-2 teams, in six league outings. They have won once and lost twice in forays outside the league. Its lineup composed of players in the 25-30-year-old bracket, Levittown's entry is just now rounding into good playing condition and is expected to make a genuine run for the loop flag.

Player-coach Stew Tomkins is expected to team with Kash Bill Hughes, Ike Eisenhart and Dave Schaffer in tonight's starting array. It will be the Pioneers' first league action since Dec. 14.

Morrisville, loser of six straight, will have high-scoring Jeep Davis as its chief threat. Davis' average is near the 20-point level.

Torano's (2-3) will hope to regain fourth place when it meets Bensalem (1-5) in the opener tonight. The Garagemen were whipped 59-39, by Kaiser as the league re-opened last Monday night after a two-week holiday layoff.

Key point-getters at large in the opener include Bensalem's Dick Smith and Ron Elliott and Frank Thropp and Bob Whitfield of Torano's.

BevoHogsSpotlight Again With 48 Pts. In Rio Grande Win

Bevo Francis continued in the basketball spotlight today after breaking the Butler Fieldhouse scoring with 48 points in helping Rio Grande whip the Butler Bulldogs, 81 to 68.

The six-foot-nine-inch scoring star, with an average of 44 points for the season, cracked the fieldhouse record of 34 points set earlier this season by Paul Ebert of Ohio State before the third quarter ended Wednesday night.

Francis matched the entire Butler team point for point through the first two quarters. He got 13 in the 24-13 first quarter and 27 in the 42-27 half. He sank 17 of 31 field goal attempts and added 14 free throws.

Notre Dame rallied in the last half to outscore Louisville, 72 to 53. Ohio States had little trouble subduing Pittsburgh, 74 to 55. Yale edged Dartmouth by two points, 60 to 58.

In other games, the Navy sunk Johns Hopkins, 94 to 50. Maryland ran past Clemson, 79 to 54. Duke swamped Virginia Tech, 82 to 45. Holy Cross ran over American International, 91 to 62, and Penn State defeated Syracuse, 77 to 63.

On the West Coast, Idaho upended Oregon, 60 to 53.

FULL NBA SCHEDULE; WARRIORS TOP HAWKS

By International News Service

A full four-game schedule is on tap tonight in the National Basketball Association.

The New York Knickerbockers, leading the eastern division, meets the Baltimore Bullets in the first game of a double header in Madison Square Garden, and the Philadelphia Warriors take on Milwaukee in the second half of the twin bill. Rochester is at Minneapolis, the western division leader, and Syracuse, shooting for a second place tie with idle Boston, hosts Fort Wayne.

The Warriors topped Milwaukee, 77 to 72, and Fort Wayne whipped Baltimore, 90 to 78, in Wednesday night's contests.

pod their only tuneup test to St. John's of Manayunk, led only twice during a game that was this way and that way all the way. They tied it at 26 just as the third quarter skidded to a halt, then needed the Tigers into a rage by taking command at 38-36 as Dick Rich's swishing jumpshot opened the finale.

Industrious Bob Morris, Dick Smith, Leroy Katz, Joe Venebush and sleek Nick Moran pooled home-stretch field goals to erase the brief deficit and preserve the area's only clean record.

Morris, Katz Tops

Morris, who suffered agony in getting but seven of 22 free tries down the hatch, shared point honors with setshooting Katz. Each had 15. Smith, deadly from side-court, bagged 12 points and Moran was a glittering object with his four assists and two timely field goals.

Morris was the champ under the rims, too. He scraped off 17 rebounds in teaming with Smith and Venebush to form an impenetrable defensive cordon. In all Delhaas out-rebounded their visitors, 38-16, and won because of it.

After Rich's last quarter jumper, Moran dunked his second fielder, Smith fanned in a free throw miss and Katz tipped a Moran pass and deposited a layup. It was 42-38 and Delhaas kept it that way by and large.

Morrisville closed it to 43-41 on a three-point cluster by George Heath, but was lagging, 47-43, going into the final three ticks. Morris' layup, again on a Moran pass, and Venebush's only good giffie in five tries made it 50-44. Then, after the Dogs' used two Arvie Powell free throws to inch forward a bit, Delhaas clinched it on Venebush's follow and Morris' two charity hits.

Powell Bags 13

Powell, hot with a jerky one-bander from the fringe of Delhaas' shifting zone, had 13 points to claim Bulldog honors. Rich and Heath posted nine each. The Bulldogs as a crew landed only 18 of 57 shots, chiefly because none of their popping was set off at close range. Tiger defenses were too difficult.

The Bengal book showed 21 scrimmage hits in 62 tries, but a pitiful 12 for 42 at the free tape.

Morrisville's Jayvees, a skillful lot, pulled away in the last half for a 38-25 victory. Phil Crooks was the best boy with 15 marks, while Ron Barkasy had ten for the losers.

PHILLY WRITERS NAME ROSEN ATHLETE OF '53

PHILADELPHIA — INS — Al Rosen, the American League's most valuable player in 1953, has been named the most outstanding athlete of the year by the Philadelphia Sports Writers Association.

The Cleveland Indians' slugging third baseman will be presented with a trophy at the Writers' Golden Anniversary Feast on Jan. 25th at Philadelphia.

REVIEW OF THE YEAR—By Alan Mavay, NOVEMBER

Olden Treasures Are Reproduced In Modern Bible

NEW YORK, (INS)—Fifteenth century art treasures, long hidden in manuscript editions of the Holy Bible, have been reproduced for the first time in the "Catholic Family Bible."

Most of the nearly 100 illustrations in the Bible, published by John J. Crawley & Co., Inc., New York, and all the picturized initials used to introduce each Book, have never before been reproduced in full color.

After Gutenberg published his famous Bible, book decoration became a somber in its effect. Prior to printing, monks laboriously copied the Bible by hand. These manuscripts were illustrated by hand. Thus each copy of the Bible became a private "art gallery." All this took time, years in many cases, and in 1453 a single manuscript Bible cost 500 gold crowns, the equivalent of $2,500 in modern currency.

Until recently, presses were unable to duplicate this magnificent art.

Publisher Crawley said: "We were amazed to discover that so many examples of religious art were all but unknown except to scholars and specialists in the Middle Ages. Modern color techniques made it possible to reproduce these rare and beautiful manuscripts with great accuracy."

"It took monks dedicated to the task years to finish one copy of the Bible. Now, in less time, a publisher can produce the same art for all the people . . . at a fraction of what it would have cost in the 15th century."

The first successful typewriter was built by Christopher L. Sholes in Mooresburg, Pennsylvania, in 1866.

Tact Can Solve Most Problems Posed by Stepchild's Visit

By GARRY CLEVELAND SMITH, Ph.D.

IN earlier columns on the stepmother, I have considered those women whose husbands' children live with her full-time in the new home.

However, more often, when the real mother is alive, she's given the custody of her children. The stepmother sees the children only occasionally or for regular short periods when they visit in the father's new home.

Let's consider the stepmother in this home.

If the child is under two or three, his real mother or some relative may come with him, in which case the situation may be very trying for the stepmother.

Suppose you are the stepmother of a child from five to twelve, who visits in your home now and then. Human nature may prompt you to vie with the real mother for this child's esteem and affection. Your husband may conspire in this, thus seeming to justify his divorce and remarriage. The procedure may be to try to give the child more material things, more comforts and luxuries, and especially more privileges, than he gets from his real mother. Most of all, he may see and hear suggestions aimed at causing him to think less well of his real mother.

No Competition

If you are a part-time stepmother, you will warily avoid such pitfalls. You won't try to compete with the real mother, nor lessen the child's fondness of her in any other way. You will be his friend.

Of course, if the child is old enough to run about, you might feel a sense of responsibility for his physical and moral safety while at your home. Unless you can win the complete cooperation of your husband, this may not be easy, especially if what you expect in the child's regulation is more exacting than the child has been accustomed to from his own mother. This problem is greater with the older child, especially an adolescent.

Your best plan, perhaps, is to deal with this child pretty much as with a guest, and even more so, after this child marries, difficult as this may be.

Where the stepmother brings children of her own to this home, dealing with her husband's visiting child grows more difficult, as a rule. The problem is further increased and complicated when there are children from the new marriage. Yet some stepmothers meet these problems marvelously well.

"Stepmothers Can Be Nice" is an excellent new booklet by Helen Steers Burgess, to be had for 35 cents from the Public Affairs Committee, Inc., 22 East 36th Street, New York 16, N. Y., a nonprofit organization. I wish every stepmother would read this booklet carefully.

Valuable Reading

Mrs. Burgess, vice chairman of the Child Study Association, writes with keen insight and appreciation of the many problems facing the stepmother and the stepchild whom she mothers part-time or full-time. She discusses many typical stepparent situations and points out that the inevitable difficulties can be eased by facing them squarely.

Written with much warmth, understanding and humor, the booklet makes good reading for all parents. The author shows clearly that the stepmother has not come into the child's life to take the place of the real mother, but only to add love and care.

Mrs. Burgess maintains that the most important thing a woman can do for her children, whether they have been born to her or presented to her, is to love these children's father and to think him "a very nice person."

Boeing Is Busy With Tests To Aid Jet Brake Power

SEATTLE, Wash.—(INS)—Power to stop—a vital new flight factor which will tailor America's first jet transport to the nation's moderate-sized airports—is on the way.

Secret experiments by Boeing engineers are reported to be making "real progress" toward use of reverse thrust.

Reversal of jet thrust will enable the giant B-52 eight-jet bomber and America's first jet transport to slow their long landing roll of the 150-ton B-52 and its smaller commercial counterpart.

U. S. supremacy internationally in military aviation and in commercial air transport may rest to a considerable extent on this engineering advance.

"Real Progress"

Officially, Boeing will not talk about its new achievements in reversing reverse thrust. But a reliable source in the company has confirmed reports of "real progress."

Expanding gases in a turbojet engine normally drive a bomber or fighter forward at something like supersonic speeds. The trick in using this power to stop the plane has been to turn the thrust in the opposite direction.

Superior to British

This was achieved relatively easily in modern propeller-driven planes.

But Boeing is the first manufacturer in the world to come up with anything resembling a solution for jet operations.

It also is significant that W. A. Patterson, veteran president of United Airlines, describes the prototype Boeing jet transport as vastly superior to the British Comets. Patterson said:

"We have superiority in this country in design and production."

Patterson stressed that Boeing is substantially ahead of other American airplane manufacturers in development of large jet planes.

Spending Own Money

Patterson pointed out that Boeing is the only American firm which has taken upon itself the building of a 20 million dollar prototype jet commercial transport at its own expense.

The Boeing jet transport is expected to exceed the British Comets, which now have a monopoly in jet travel. The Boeing jet transport is expected to surpass the Comets in speed, range and payload.

The Comet I will make up to a 1,600-mile hop with safe fuel reserve. The Comet II can fly about 2,000 miles nonstop.

Award Contracts For Anti-Pollution On Susquehanna

HARRISBURG—The Lock Haven City Authority has awarded contracts for the construction of a sewage treatment plant for that city, which is another important step in advancing the anti-pollution drive in the Susquehanna River basin.

In addition to that project, a contract was awarded for the construction of sewers to serve a recently annexed part of Allison Township and the adjoining city area.

It is pointed out that outstanding progress in advancing the anti-pollution program is being made on the Susquehanna River watershed. In addition to the projects begun at Lock Haven, two sewage treatment plants are being built by Williamsport at a cost of more than three and one-half million dollars. New plants are also under construction at Jersey Shore, Lewistown, Muncy, Shippensburg, Tyrone, York and a second plant in Altoona, one having recently been completed in that city.

New plants recently placed in operation are those at Bloomsburg, Catawissa, Bedford, Everett, two housing projects at Kingston, Columbia, Danville and Watsonville. Plants in the following places have been in operation for some time but were built since inauguration of the Clean Streams program:

Freeburg, Sunbury, Selinsgrove, Shamokin Dam, Mifflinburg, Dillsburg, Litzitz, Lemoyne, New Cumberland, Mechanicsburg, Safe Harbor, Holtwood, Bendix Aviation, Susquehanna Co., Lewisburg, Riverside, Retreat State Hospital and E. I. duPont de Nemours & Co. Chemical plant in North Towanda Township, Bradford Co.

Existing plants at Hershey and Montrose have been enlarged and modernized. There were 92 plants in operation on the watershed before the cleanup program was instituted.

The first railroad locomotive equipped with a cab for the protection of the engineer and fireman was built in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, for use on the Lehigh Valley Road in 1835.

ELIZABETH WOODWARD SAYS:

Don't Be Haughty About Bid for Date

A date bid is an invitation to fun—no matter how you come by it. The phone can ring and there's a he on the other end asking if you're free to do whatever it is on the evening he has in mind. The phone can ring and there's a she on the other end asking if you'll take a chance on a date with a boy neither of you has ever seen but her date is brining along. The she can be asking you to go along with two or three couples as partner for a boy you both know very well.

Whether you make the date yourself or have it made for you, it's still an invitation to fun. Fun to be going somewhere special, to do something exciting and nice. Fun to be going with someone who can turn out to be exciting and nice. A date six of one and a half dozen of the other.

Yet how many girls look a gift date in the teeth with a supercilious air because they can't see it as just fun. It has to be blazing romance or else!

Here's a gal who has mounted a very frisky high horse over a date bid that has come her way because... well, here's what she writes:

"DEAR MISS WOODWARD: My two best girl friends are going steady with boys who are good friends. The two boys have another friend who asked them to fix up a date with me. I consented because I thought we would all have a good time.

Now my girl friends tell me he only asked me out because he wants to be with his friends. Shall I still go out with him knowing that, or should I refuse him altogether?"

Somewhat you've taken this bit of behind-the-scenes information as a personal insult. Your nose is out of joint over the thought that this boy didn't want a date with you for your own precious sake but just to make it six.

He apparently doesn't go steady—so if he wants to go out with his two boy friends he has to find a girl. His generous thought was that their two girl friends might like to include a third girl that they know well and like. You were elected. If the three boys know each other and the three girls know each other, the date is likely to get off to a good start. He was willing to take a chance on their recommendation—you.

So why can't you take the same chance? The invitation didn't come your way because he's been smitten by you. You're just the happy thought that fills the bill for an evening of fun.

Turn it down and you'll miss a good time. Turn it down and you'll miss the chance to get acquainted with a boy who might turn out to be a congenial and permanent ornament to your calendar.

You can have two or three hours of fun with him while you're out with your girl friends. Isn't that worth accepting?

Your Birthday by STELLA

THURSDAY, JANUARY 7—Born today, you are gregarious by nature and are happiest when you are surrounded by hoards of people. You will be most content if you have a large family of your own upon which you can lavish your affections. If you are emotionally unhappy you cannot do your best work, so select someone who understands your ambitions, your temperament and your latent talents and who can help you to develop them to the highest possible degree. You are the type to work better "in harness" than alone.

However, you like to be the leader and can become very impatient if you have to wait upon others for a decision. You have ideas of your own and want to follow them without intervention from others. You would probably do best in one of the arts or the professions where a great deal depends upon personal initiative, rather than upon following a path hewn by others.

You are inclined to be a little too critical of what others are doing. Learn that praise sometimes gets you what you want when fault-finding only builds up opposition and resentment. If you must make a correction, be constructive in your suggestions. Suggest a better mouse trap instead of insisting that the existing one is no good! You'll be surprised how well this system will work.

To find what the stars have in store for tomorrow, select your birthday star and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Friday, January 8
CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20) — You could combine business and pleasure today, if you wished. Friendliness on the job is helpful.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) — Work hard to complete your week's working schedule so you can plan for a recreational week end.
PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 20) — Often you will find that minor details turn out to be extremely important to your major objective.
ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 20) — Utilize your imaginative powers to the best possible advantage and you can improve your work output.
TAURUS (Apr. 21-May 21) — Don't get involved in an argument, no matter how minor it may appear at first. It could prove seriously disrupting.
GEMINI (May 22-June 21) — Have you a vivid and creative imagination? Then use it today and you will find that you advance your interests.
LEO (July 24-Aug. 23) — If you have a birthday on an anniversary, to remember one of these days, make your plans for the gift now.
VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) — Should an important decision be pending, make up your mind today if you have all the facts at hand.
LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) — Clear your desk of last-minute jobs so that you won't have to take home a filled briefcase with you tonight.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23) — Look far enough ahead to make definite plans yet don't waste time in day-dreaming either.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) — Wind up everything that is imperative today so that you can look forward to a care-free week end.

FISH TALE
WASHINGTON, (INS) — Japan leads the world in fisheries production with an average of almost 3 million metric tons of fish a year, says the National Geographic Society. Next are the United States with 2.5 million, Russia 2 million, and the United Kingdom and Norway, 1.1 million each.

New York State Has Department Paying Dividends

ALBANY, N.Y., (INS) — Most branches of most governments cost their taxpayers money, but one portion of the New York State government more than pays for itself — the Merit Award Board of the State Department of Civil Service.

The board, which administers the Empire State's Employees' Suggested Program, was first established by the governor on a temporary basis, in 1946, and after an experimental period was established as a permanent part of the Civil Service Department by the 1948 legislature.

State employees have submitted more than 5,500 suggestions since the program began, and these have resulted in an estimated savings for the people of the state of more than $600,000. The state has paid out more than $30,000 in awards for these suggestions.

Cut Red Tape
Most of the suggestions are concerned with new methods for cutting through "red tape," but among the more colorful suggestions were: A guard assigned to the greenhouse at Elmira Reformatory noticed that many of the 75,000 clay flower pots were broken through normal usage and storage. He designed an unbreakable flower pot out of discarded gallon tins used to can vegetables.

A chemist in the Division of Standards and Purchase, working at home, designed and built a machine to test the degree of slipperiness of floor wax out of an old alarm clock, typewriter parts and odds and ends.

Constructed Saw
Two seasonal workers working on the Niagara River in the Conservation Department's Division of Parks, constructed a chain saw to cut off pilings protruding dangerously above the surface of the water. Pilings which had lined the river shore for several miles were cut off a few inches from the river bottom with the saw made by the two men.

In addition to the cash awards or certificates issued if an idea is used, an employee benefits even for an unusable suggestion, because he will get recognition for trying to do an extra good job.

The members of the board also feel that the program helps the state worker by giving him a morale boost through instilling in him an attitude of professionalism — the idea that he is serving the people of the state.

Juror Holds Out, All Given Time For Deliberation

DOYLESTOWN — A Common Pleas Court jury in an assessment of $860 damages trial had to leave the box to deliberate because one juror didn't agree with the other eleven.

Foreman Charles R. Fry, Humesville, after hearing one witness, William J. Fordover, Southampton, testify the claim was for $860, individually polled each juror in the jury box. When he came to the eleventh juror there was a refusal and President Judge Hiram H. Keller ordered the jury to retire to deliberate.

Deliberates 20 Minutes

The jury, which was out about 20 minutes, returned a verdict of $860 in favor of the plaintiff, Alvin H. Beth, 528 Sycamore street, Croydon, and against the defendant, Norman E. Hetherington, Jr., 247 Jackson street, Bristol.

The Croydon motorist was operating his car on State road at Girard avenue in Croydon Nov. 17, 1951, when there was a collision with a car driven by the defendant, Hetherington.

The Southampton garageman testified that to repair the car would have cost $1,000. He estimated the damages to the Croydon plaintiff's car as amounting to $860. It cost $10 to tow the car which brought the claim up to $860.

Usually Doesn't Leave Box

Ordinarily an assessment of damages case jury doesn't leave the jury box to reach a verdict because the consent of the 12 men and women is unanimous.

The jury was composed of: Foreman C. R. Fry, Humesville; Ruth Fehrie, Trevese; Grace Moore, Perkase RD 3; Stella Williamson, Croydon; Titus Franklin, Furlong; Kathryn E. Keeler, Dublin; Catherine M. Klefer, Croydon; Henry Weierbach, Pleasant Valley; Anna M. Benton, Langhorne RD; William B. Chamberlain, Andalusia; and Ada Seltzer, Croydon RD.

Defendant's Wife Ill, Suit Is Off

Court Continues Damage Hearing

DOYLESTOWN — Judge Edwin H. Satterthwaite in Common Pleas Court continued the trial of a Philadelphia motorist, who was suing another Philadelphia autolite, because the wife of the defendant, James Todd, 3605 Welsh road, is ill. Judge Satterthwaite discharged the jury, which had been selected, and ordered the case continued until the next term of civil court.

Suing for $5,445

The plaintiff is Michael Blancarsky, 110 E. Rockland street, Philadelphia, who is suing Todd for $5,445 damages to his car and $5,000 for damages growing out of injuries. The collision took place July 7, 1952, on Route 13 in Bristol.

The members of the jury were: Foreman John P. Devine, Bristol; Irvin L. Rothmel, Doylestown; Frank DiRenzo, Bristol; Elizabeth J. Banker, Bristol; William R. Phillips, Milford Square; Esther N. Swigart, Southampton; Edwin F. Holt, Bristol; Algernon S. Cadwalader, Yardley; Walter K. Young, Doylestown RD 2; William L. Keller, Jr., Doylestown; P. H. Schmitz, Erwinna; Mary Collins, Morrisville RD 1.

Panel Excused

Members of the January panel of civil court were excused yesterday because the cases listed for disposition were either tried, settlements made or ordered continued.

Several cases expected to last three or four days terminated abruptly in settlements.

KEYES FINAL SPEAKER

Psychiatry Series Will Be Ended Tomorrow By Bucks Workshop

Dr. Baldwin Keyes, who gave the first lecture in the seminar, "Introduction to Psychiatry," sponsored by the Bucks County Workshop, will conclude the series by discussing the "Futures of Mental Health" at an open meeting in the new Hope Public Library at 8 p. m. Friday.

Dr. Keyes heads a staff of 450 lecturers at the Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia. He was responsible for the organization of the seminar.

As the Delaware Valley has become a highly industrialized area in the past five years, part of the talk will deal with mass reaction to disaster.

Roger Maren will also conclude the workshop, "Understanding Mutual Expression," Friday evening, at the home of Mrs. Edward Paxson.

Recruiting Sergeants

IF YOU WANT to enlist in the U. S. Army or Air Force, just wander over to the Bristol borough post-office any Monday or Thursday between 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. Beginning next week, the services will set up a recruiting station there. M/Sgt. Robert E. Spillman (left), of the Philadelphia recruiting station, and Sgt. F. C. Robert Bailey, who has been assigned to the Bristol station, get a rundown on the area from Postmaster Lawrence M. Molligan.

Teenagers Need Understanding, Also Own Place to Congregate

By Carol M. Gabler

Area opinion, reflecting the concern of adults over the lack of recreational facilities for Lower Bucks County teenagers, and concluding that juvenile delinquency is "not the kids' fault," was echoed today in a statement by a noted psychiatrist.

Lower Bucks County residents have been waking up to the fact that, as the area grows, so will the number of teenagers in the community. And unless the teenager is both understood and given a place to congregate, a heartbreaking problem will be the result.

When an article discussing the need of a recreation center and the fact that a "delinquent" is the result of poor or indifferent parental training, appeared in THE BRISTOL DAILY COURIER earlier this week, many enthusiastic phone calls were received from civic leaders. And the callers all had the same thing to say. They stated that 99 per cent of teenagers are "good kids," and that they were glad that at last this fact had been revealed.

"Not Going To Dogs?" Dr. James C. Flanagan, resident psychiatrist at the University of Michigan Medical School, puts it more simply, but says the same thing.

"The nation's adolescents are not going to the dogs," he asserts.

"If parents want their children to act in a manner fitting and acceptable to society," he said, "they must help provide an atmosphere of faith and confidence needed for growth and development."

Dr. Flanagan said that teenagers merely try to behave in a "manner expected of them."

Tellow Is Selected Democrats' Head In Middletown Twp.

Charles Tellow of Parkland last night was elected chairman of the Middletown Township Democratic Committee. John Crowley of Durham road was named secretary and Norman J. Bailey of Langhorne Terrace, treasurer.

The committee adopted a resolution authorizing circulation of petition to the Bucks County Commissioners to set a date for registration in Lower Bucks County before the March 27 spring closing date.

Tellow said the committee proposes to keep close tab on township questions so as to be prepared to take a definite stand on township policies.

The committee plans to meet once a month.

The psychiatrist stressed that parents can and should have confidence in the capability of their children to make decisions and plans. He suggested that parents help their children to understand more about "how" to grow up.

Parents frequently say, for want of more adequate words, "Why don't you grow up?" to their children. But seldom do they tell them how to.

Dr. Flanagan also mentioned the psychological changes involved in growing up.

"It should be remembered," he said, "that 12-16 year-olds undergo body changes that often seem sudden and frightening to them."

Another part of growing "up," is the growing away from the family, he added. This change in direction, unless recognized realistically, many times confuse children and parents alike, he pointed out.

He advised that adolescents be made aware of their social responsibilities and that practical guidance they require, but which is not often available, be given them.

A place to "inter-act," or to mingle with children of the same ages is an experience that is necessary to the growth of the teenager—as well as giving him a place to release his "excess energy" and to keep him "off the streets."

Flood Relief Plans At Highway Office

Drainage plans to alleviate flood conditions on Route 13 at Wheat-sheaf have been received in the State Highway Department Regional Office at Ardmore, a spokesman said today. They will be reviewed by District Engineer E. J. Kinney early next week.

A State Highway official visited the area Tuesday with Bucks County Highway Superintendent J. D. Worthington. Plans drawn up by Worthington include construction of a storm sewer parallel to the highway draining into the Delaware Division of the Pennsylvania Canal. The State Department of Forests and Waters, however, would have to approve the use of the canal, it was pointed out.

If the state approves the plans, the next step will be to obtain right-of-way from property owners whose lands the drainage system would cross.

Social Security Shared By 6300

At the end of 1953—the seventeenth year of Federal social security—old-age and survivors insurance payments of about $284,000 a month were going to 6,300 persons in Bucks County, according to Reuben R. Blane, manager of the Trenton District Social Security Office.

For the entire nation, including Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands, estimates show an increase of approximately one million beneficiaries with the year ending Dec. 31. The five-millionth person was awarded payments in December, 1952.

In September, 1950 the Congress enacted an amendment to the law which greatly expanded the scope of the program. At that time only 3 million people were getting benefits. The number has just about doubled in the last three-year period, he pointed out, having reached 5,970,000 by year's end, according to preliminary estimates made in December.

Keep Those Eyes and Ears Alerted; Fast Words May Woo Dollars Away

By Charles Walton

Beware of the gypster who approaches you with a scheme that sounds too good to be true.

With the influx of building in this area it might be wise to keep a keen ear attuned to the honey-voiced individual who approaches you, as the home owner, with a "once in a lifetime deal."

One good example would be the roving painting contractor who is soliciting for business in this area now. With a smooth attack on your good-nature he'll try to sell you a house painting job that will cost you "not a dime."

The Way It Goes

His spiel might sound something like this:

"We're going to put a nice new paint job on your house, see," he'll smile. "It'll be a $300 job and what do you think it will cost you? . . . $300? . . . no siree, Bob, it won't cost you a dime, not a single dime."

If you're gullible, you will hang on as he continues with his "pie in the sky scheme."

And So On

"My company wants to paint your house for advertising purposes, see," the man will tell you. "That's why we're offering this amazing deal. When your house is finished we figure that the neighborhood will inquire where you got the job done. They'll look at it and approve, to be sure. All that you have to do is to sit back and give us their names and we'll take care of the rest."

"Every time we get another paint job through you, we'll send you a nice, big fat commission. Of course, you'll have to pay the $300, naturally."

Graham's Death Leaves Fire Gap

Marshal Fought For Safety Codes

The death of Fire Marshal Robert Graham is expected to slow down a drive for uniform building and fire codes by the Bucks County Firemen's Association.

Mr. Graham, who spearheaded the drive for five years, saw many communities adopt the laws he recommended.

C. J. Russell, Trevese Heights Fire Chief and secretary of the Firemen's Association, said today the fire code campaign will probably be inactive until a new marshal is named. The marshal is to be elected by the county's firemen themselves, through the Firemen and Fire Chiefs Associations, but must be approved by Bucks County officials.

Russell estimated that it will take until March to select a new marshal. The fire chiefs may suggest some nominees at their January meeting, but the names would have to be referred back to the firemen for approval.

The fire chiefs' drive was intensified Dec. 16, when Mr. Graham said he would concentrate on seeking fire codes for Bensalem and Upper and Lower Makefield townships and in the boroughs of Morrisville, Langhorne and Langhorne Manor.

The specifications sought by the fire chiefs closely resemble those of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, Russell said.

BENSALEM HIGH ALUMNI CALL MEETING OF BOARD

William Bracke, president, has called a meeting of the Board of Directors of Bensalem Township High School Alumni Association for 8 p. m. Tuesday, at the high school. A general meeting of the association is scheduled, for Tuesday, Jan. 26.

ly, but when the neighbors see the quality of our work, you'll be more than rewarded. I have documented evidence that one family in Gobbler's Knob, Pa., received more than the money he invested in our offer."

You Can Slam Door

If you have followed the conversation so far, there are three things you can do. The first and most important, slam the door. The second, and most sensible, call the police. But as is often the case, you might be thinking too deeply in terms of your pocketbook and the glaze of the offer and the thought of greenbacks might mesmerize you into the position that many other victims have found themselves.

Lulled into a sense of good fortune you, as the victim, are ready for the kill.

"Just sign here," he'll say.

If he is cautious, and sees that you are, too, he might say:

"Reliable Outfit"

"I'm not trying to rush you. Take your time and give me a call. However, your name was carefully selected from a list of prominent residents and we must hurry our schedule. Certainly, we are a reliable outfit."

And there you are, says Chief Linford J. Jones, of the Bristol borough police and Chief John R. Stewart, of Bristol township, you're all set to be taken to the cleaners, and most of the time you are the lamb fleeced without a whimper.

"Although I have heard of this painting contractor yet," Chief Jones said, "I cannot do anything until there is a formal complaint. Too often it is the case where the homeowner has been caught with a red-face and dares not tell anyone because of the threat of public ridicule."

Nobody Likes To Be Sucker

Nobody likes to be called a sucker, an easy mark.

"If the housewife is approached by such a person, the only thing to do is to listen to him. Then when he has finished call the police."

"Without causing anyone any embarrassment we can check the credibility of the solicitor's firm and tell you in short order whether it is reliable or not," Chief Jones added.

Once the smooth salesman has taken your signature and spring rolls around, the only thing left is the actual painting. After it is completed it looks great. You might call in a few friends and tell them of your good-fortune.

Shower's Come

Then things begin to happen. The first April shower makes your house look as if it were a zebra as drawn by Dali. As the summer sun wears on, the paint begins to blister and peel. Then you begin to burn.

You still are wondering why the local paint store has sent you a bill for so many gallons of paint that you never—never used—take a look at your house.

A Check-Off List

To avoid being victimized by such solicitors, Chief Stewart suggests this check-off list.

1. When a representative of an unfamiliar firm approaches you with a deal, contact the police for information on whether the firm is a reliable one.

2. Get an estimate on the same job from a recognized firm in Lower Bucks County. Compare it in detail.

3. Insist that all promises be made in writing, also guarantees.

4. Before signing a contract or making a payment, be sure the firm supplying the materials for the job has been paid by the salesman's company.

"And also remember, you never get something for nothing," Chief Stewart concluded.

Reds Agree To Talk About Plans For Atom Conference

WASHINGTON — (INS)—America's hopes for quick action on a peacetime atomic pool were given impetus today when Russia agreed to discuss preliminary arrangements in Washington, possibly this week.

The State Department disclosed Wednesday that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will confer with Soviet Ambassador Georgi Zarubin on procedural matters "at an early date."

Dulles and Zarubin are expected to lay the groundwork—the time, place and agenda—for full-scale negotiations on President Eisenhower's proposal.

The selection of Zarubin as the Soviet representative to handle these details was interpreted as an indication that Moscow may want the spade-work done before the Big Four foreign ministers meet Jan. 25 in Berlin.
